LS 2010 Paralegal Practicum Syllabus

SALT LAKE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Course Description: This 3-credit course will explore the rapidly developing role of software in the area of legal data, eDiscovery, and information governance. We will take an in-depth look at the role of software in the litigation lifecycle from data collection and document review to production and presentation at trial. Exploration of technology used in the litigation support department and by litigation teams in the acquisition of data and eDiscovery processing.

Course Outcome: It is anticipated that each student will finish the course having met all the requirements and been awarded their NSLT/ACEDS eDiscovery Technology Certificate (eDTech) being jointly presented by NSLT – National Society for Legal Technology & ACEDS – Association of Certified Electronic Discovery Specialists.

Required Material: There is no hard-copy textbook required for this course. Students must join the National Society for Legal Technology (NSLT). The membership fee for the eDiscovery Technology Certificate is $160 and grants you 1-year access to all the eDiscovery learning material. This is a different membership than the NSLT's Law Office Technology Certificate. Memberships are also available through the College bookstore.

Course Information: This course will be conducted partially online with some in class meetings. On the first day of class, we will meet and register for the NSLT program which will be used during this course. Other in person meetings will be as needed and your instructor will notify you by email. Even when we do not meet in person, your instructor will be available for consultation, one on one assistance and to answer questions.

Attendance: Students enrolled in this course, for which weekly campus attendance is not required, must fulfill the following attendance requirements:

- Students must register for membership with the NSLT before the end of week two.
- You will have homework due every week of this course. If you don't register with the NSLT, you cannot do your homework.
- This course builds upon itself, and each unit requires completion of the prior unit before you can access the material and submit the required work. If you miss completing one week's homework, the next week's material will NOT unlock and be accessible to you. You will need to complete the missed week's work before you can access the current material. If you get behind, this means you will still need to do the work you missed (even if you don't get a grade for it) before you can proceed.
- Because it is so difficult to make up missed work in this class, I may be forced to drop you from the course if you have more than 2 consecutive or non-consecutive weeks where you did not log in and participate in discussions and assignment submissions.

Grades: Students can view their grades using the GRADES button in the course navigation links. Students should check your grades regularly to make certain that their instructor has received all assignments. If students have a question about a grade, they should email their instructor through CONVERSATIONS.

Grading Percentages:

Discussion Posts	10%
NSLT Learning Lessons	50%
eDiscovery Certificate	10%
Midterm Exam	10%
Final Exam	20%

Late Assignments: Late assignments (work submitted after the submission deadline) get an automatic deduction of 10% of the project grade per day the assignment is late. You need to plan ahead and give yourself time to deal with unexpected problems that may arise before the deadline. I will grade strictly in this course, but I also allow unlimited amounts of extra credit. It is very possible for each of you to earn an A in this course.

Extra Credit Points: Extra credit points are only available to restore points you missed on specific assignments. Extra credit points may not be used to exceed your score beyond the number of points possible for any given assignment. Extra credit points may NOT be used to makeup points lost on the Final Exam. Extra credit projects will vary based on the number of points you want to recoup. Extra credit assignments may include such projects as: 1) writing a report about a given Blog post on the NSLT website, 2) researching and writing a report about a legal software program not discussed during this course, 3) creating a presentation about a legal technology software or current topic.

Additional Policies

Withdrawal and Incomplete Grades: The last day to drop this class with a refund is listed in the official college schedule but is approximately 3 weeks after the first day of class; the last day to withdraw (without refund) is also listed in the official college schedule but is approximately 12 weeks after the first day of class. Any requests to withdraw after that date will require documentation from a physician or an employer stating that you are unable to continue in the class for health or work-related reasons. Poor performance in the class is not a legitimate reason for withdrawal. It is the responsibility of the student to drop/withdraw from this class, not the instructor. Students who do not attend during the first week of class may be dropped at the discretion of the instructor.

Dropping the Course: If you decide for any reason to discontinue this class, you must go through the process of dropping the class with SLCC. I cannot and will not do it for you. If you stop submitting work and do not drop the class, I am required to give you a grade based on the limited amount of work you have submitted, which could result in an "E".

Incomplete Grades: Sometimes life gets in the way for all of us to do our best. Car accidents happen – pandemics destroy our plans – things change at work. That's why incomplete grades exist; however, awarding an incomplete grade is rarely in a student's best interest. Most "I" grades become failing grades after the required one-year grace period expires. The school policy is that a grade of "I" (Incomplete) may be available at the instructor's option but is only given in the most extenuating of circumstances (for example health reasons) for which there is verifiable written documentation. In order to receive an incomplete, nearly all course work must have been completed (>75%) with a passing grade. When an incomplete grade is awarded, a contract must be completed to finish the missing work.
